

British Columbians Support Measures to Reduce Speculative Investment in Real Estate

Concern about Housing Affordability in B.C.

Over nine-in-ten are at least somewhat concerned about housing affordability.

Impact of Speculative Buying on British Columbia

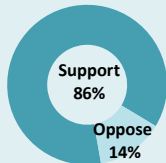

Impact of Speculative Buying on Housing Affordability

Two-thirds believe speculative investment is having a significant impact on housing affordability.

Opinion of Measures to Curb Speculation

86 per cent support measures designed to curb speculative investment.

Time to Consider Banning Foreign Investment?

Almost six-in-ten also believe it is time to consider banning foreign investment in B.C. real estate.

Divisions Created by Housing Affordability Issue Along...

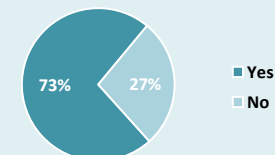

Support for Measures among Property/Home Owners

78 per cent of home owners support measures to curb speculation, even if they make their property less valuable.

Can Speculation be Addressed Without Impacting Economy?

And British Columbians are confident that speculation can be addressed without impacting the overall economy.